DETAILED ACTION

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114 was filed in this application after a decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, but before the filing of a Notice of Appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or the commencement of a civil action. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114 and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the appeal has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114 and prosecution in this application has been reopened pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on Jan 7, 2005 has been entered.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claim 37 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. No proper antecedent is found in the claim for "said first, second and third holes". It is believed that this claim was meant to depend from claim 36 not claim 23. For the purpose of this rejection, claim 37 is being treated as depending from claim 36.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 19, 20, 36 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kunstler (DE 9301769) in view of Chanteur (FR 2754929) and Cienkus, Jr. et al. (US 5518333).

As defined in former Office Actions, the patent to Kunstler discloses a presentation device comprising a base (4), a flexible stand composed of flexible uprights (1) plugged into the base with a transverse strut (3) connecting the uprights together, and a holding means (2) for holding a presentation carrier (6) between the stand and the base. Kunstler further discloses the base composed of an elongated cross-member (5) and two receptacles (7) into which are plugged the lower end portions of the upright flexible bars (please see Fig 1), the boxes of the receptacles extending obliquely to the vertical direction and parallel to a plane perpendicular to the longitudinal axis of the cross-member (please see Fig 3).

Kunstler does not teach the presentation device having two, or more transverse struts. However, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Kunstler by providing another transverse strut to provide additional stability and strength to the presentation device. The addition of said second strut would have given the presentation device a double-H shape.

Kunstler does not teach the uprights composed of several flexible bars joined together, of the use of T-shaped plug connectors to connect the transverse struts to the respective ends of the flexible bars.

Chanteur discloses a display unit (Fig 1) including an upright composed of several flexible bars (23, 24, 25) plugged together. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Kunstler by making the uprights out of several flexible bars as taught by Chanteur to allow the device to be broken down into a smaller bundle for easier storage.

Cienkus, Jr. et al. discloses the use of a T-connector (12) for interconnecting elongated elements (14). Joining the flexible bars one to another using a T-shaped connector as taught by Chanteur would also have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in order that one connector allow both connections of the individual flexible bars to form uprights as well as attachment of the transverse struts to the uprights, facilitating the connections of elements comprising the display unit.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 21-24, and 30-35 are allowed.

Claims 25-29 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. The Board on its decision render that Chanteur did teach a T-shaped connector interconnecting bars to uprights. However, the new discovered reference to Cienkus, Jr. et al. clearly teaches that.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Boyle et al. (US 5640811) and Hagenlocher (US 6056240) disclose the use of connectors of different shapes.
